Under these circumstances the accommodation provider is liable for valuables, money and securities up to a maximum amount of € 550 unless he had taken these things with the knowledge of their condition into his safekeeping or if the damage was caused by himself or one of his employees, which would make him unlimitedly liable. A rejection of the liability by putting up a notice is legally ineffective.

Agreements which lead to a reduction of liability below the extent stated in the paragraphs above, are legally ineffective. Otherwise the regulation in § 5 (5) is applicable (discounts).

(3) If the accommodation agreement was agreed for an unlimited period of time, then the contract partners can cancel the contract at any time, provided that they adhere to a cancellation period of three days. The contract partner must be informed about the cancellation before 10.00pm, otherwise this day is not considered to be the day of notice, due to which it will subsequently be the next day.

§ 17 Processor agreement

(1) Contractor and client are both obligated to undertake to act back and forth in accordance with the legislation on the protection of personal data.

(2) Contractor has no control over personal data that the client has made available. Without necessity, with the nature of the assignment given by the customer, explicit permission from the client or legal obligation, the contractor will not provide the data to third parties or process them for other purposes than for the agreed purposes.

(3) Contractor will take appropriate technical and organizational measures to protect the client's personal data against loss or any form of unlawful processing.

(4) Protection Authority will first give the controller a binding instruction before the Data Protection Authority can impose an administrative fine. The controller will inform the Contractor immediately of this binding instruction. Contractor will do everything that can reasonably be expected of him to make compliance possible. If the Contractor does not do what can be reasonably demanded of it, resulting in a fine, or if the Data Protection Authority imposes a fine immediately because there is intent or gross negligent negligence on the part of the Contractor, then the applicable limitation of liability as mentioned in article 11 applies.

(5) Contractor is responsible for damage in the context of personal data due to acts or omissions of the subprocessor where the liability limitation from article 11 applies. Contractor is not liable in case of force majeure on the part of the subprocessor.

(6) Contractor can engage third parties (sub-processors) to carry out certain activities. If the Contractor engages Third Parties, the Contractor will impose these Third Parties (in writing) on all obligations arising from the agreement with the Client.

(7) Contractor will only process the Personal Data within the European Economic Area.

Brabander Alm GmbH

biberwier@brabanderalm.at

§ 18 Privacy and secrecy

(1) Contract managers of the contractor have full access to the customer data for the execution of the agreement, the provision of support to the Client and the ability to anonymize the customer data.

(2) Other employees of the Contractor have access to the details of the client that are required to execute the order received from the client. This consent ends when one of both parties decides to terminate the customer relationship and when all items arising from the agreement have been settled for the client.

(3) Contractor will keep the clients Personal Data a secret and will also require the Employees and any sub-processors to maintain confidentiality.

(4) With the permission of the Client, the Contractor is not entitled to use the information made available by the Client for a purpose other than that for which it was obtained. An exception is made to this, however, if the Contractor acts for himself in a disciplinary, civil or criminal procedure in which this information may be of importance.

§ 19 Reporting duty data leaks

(1) The law requires that any data leak will be reported to the Data Protection Authority by the controller of the data. The Contractor will therefore not make any reports to the Authority for Personal Data. Obviously the Contractor will inform the Client correctly, timely and in full regards about relevant incidents, so that the controller can fulfill his legal obligations. The Policy Rules on reporting duty data leaks by the Data Protection Authority provide more information on this.

(2) If a controller has become aware of a data leak, he must report this immediately, where possible within 72 hours, to the Data Protection Authority. If this is not possible, an explanation must be given for the delay.

Brabander Alm GmbH

biberwier@brabanderalm.at

(3) The obligation to report does not apply if it is unlikely that the infringement involves a high risk for the rights and freedom of natural persons.

(4) A controller is obliged to document all violations, including the facts about the infringement, the consequences and the corrective measures taken.

(5) To determine a data leak, the Contractor uses the law and the Policy Rules as a guide to report data leaks. A data leak covers all security incidents, as a result of which the protection of personal data is breached at any time or as a result of which the personal data are exposed to loss or unlawful processing. For example, the loss of a USB stick or computer, burglary by a hacker, sending an e-mail in which the e-mail addresses are visible to all addressees, a malware infection or a calamity such as fire in a data center.

(6) If the Client makes a (provisional) report to the Authority for Personal Data and / or the person(s) concerned about a data leak at the Contractor, while it is clear to the Client that the Contractor is not dealing with a data leak, then the Client is responsible for all damage and costs suffered by the Contractor in that context, including the reputational damage suffered by the Contractor. In addition, the Client is obliged to withdraw such notification immediately.

(7) If it appears that the Contractor is dealing with a data leak, that must be reported by the Client to the Data Protection Authority and / or the person(s) involved, the Contractor will inform the Client about this as soon as possible after the Contractor has become familiar with the data leak. In order to achieve this, the Contractor will ensure that all its employees are able and remain able to detect a data leak and the Contractor expects its contractors to enable the Contractor to meet the deadline. For the sake of clarity: if there is a data breach at a supplier of the Contractor, the Contractor will of course also report this. The Contractor is the contact point for the Client. The Client does not have to contact the suppliers of the Contractor.

(8) Contractor will immediately attempt to provide the Client with all information that the Client needs to make a full report to the Authority for Personal Data and / or the person(s) concerned. If this information is not yet known, for example because the data leak is being investigated by the Contractor, then the Contractor will provide the client with the information that he needs to preliminary report to the Data Protection Authority and / or the person(s) concerned to be able to perform.

(9) Contractor will keep the Client informed about the progress and the measures that will be taken. Contractor makes agreements about this with the primary contact person at the initial report. In any case, the Contractor will keep the Client informed in the event of a change in the situation, the publication of further information and the measures that will be taken.

(10) Contractor registers all security incidents and handles these according to a fixed procedure (workflow).

§ 20 Data-link

(1) Contractor collects data about the use of its products. This data supports the Contractor to gain insight into whether, how and how often certain parts of the product are used. With this, the Contractor can improve its products and services and will only use the data for this purpose.

2) Client is aware that with the conclusion of the agreement he has to contribute to the development of a business intelligence dashboard on which important financial and business figures and developments are graphically given and that he gives his permission for this.

(3) Contractor will store data from the Client for the delivery of the Products. The client remains the owner of the relevant data. The client can obtain a copy of the relevant data.

(4) If the agreement between the Client and the Contractor ends, the data will be transferred back or, if the Client so requests, destroyed.

Brabander Alm GmbH

biberwier@brabanderalm.at

§ 21 Other provisions

(1) With regards to available (computer) facilities, the Client is obliged to ensure continuity, among other things through adequate back-up, security and virus control procedures. The Contractor will apply virus control procedures when the Contractor uses the facilities of the Client.

(2) Provisions in the Assignment that have to remain by their nature after expiration or termination of the Assignment remain in effect after termination.

§ 22 Repair clause for invalidity

(1) If any provision of these general terms and conditions or the underlying Assignment / Agreement is wholly or partially void and / or invalid and / or unenforceable, as a result of any statutory provision, court order or otherwise, this shall not have consequences for the validity of all other provisions of these general terms and conditions or the underlying Assignment / Agreement.

(2) If any provision in the Assignment or part of the Assignment can not be invoked by law, the remainder of the Assignment will remain in full force, with the provision that the stipulation on the part that can not be invoked is deemed to be adjusted in such a way that an appeal is possible, whereby the intention of the parties with respect to the original provision or the original part is maintained as much as possible.
